Save the Children in North West Balkans

👉👉 We should constantly remind ourselves how important it is to provide all children with all their rights.

This is especially important for children on the move whose education was interrupted due to leaving their homeland, because the possibility of attending classes again instills hope that life can be normalized.

Akelius digital platform for learning foreign languages enables children on the move their right to education, fully utilizes their potential for learning foreign languages that will help them build their better future.

👤👤 "Through the Akelius digital platform for learning foreign languages, children are enabled to meet new cultures and new traditions, but it also encourages their socialization, which is important in order to better integrate children on the move into the community in which they currently find themselves.

With the help of interesting illustrations, the Akelius digital platform also promotes inclusion and equality, which further educates children about their rights." said the teacher in the German language class during World Children's Day, which was celebrated in the month of November.
